

Giovanni Arnolfini and his wife on quarantine

The difference with the original one is seen in the hands of the matrimony as they are wearing gloves, and in the face of the dog as it's wearing a mask. Another difference is the hand sanitizer on the cupboard. What I ment to say is that we have to wear a mask, gloves and use hand sanitizer everytime we go out or every time we are going to be in contact with someone, as nobody wants to have the virus. I wanted to use this painting as it had a lot of elements I could work on.
